

Actus Secunda.

Enter the Princeesse of France, with three attending Ladies, and three Lords.

Boy. Now Madam summon vp your dearest spirits,
Consider who the King your father sends:
To whom he sends, and what's his Embassie.
Your selfe, held precious in the worlds esteeme,
To parlee with the sole inheritour
Of all perfections that a man may owe,
Matchlesse Nauarre, the plea of no lesse weight
Then Aquitaine, a Dowrie for a Queene.
Be now as prodigall of all deare grace,
As Nature was in making Graces deare,
When she did starue the generall world beside,
And prodigally gaue them all to you.

Queen. Good L. Boyet, my beauty though but mean,
Needs not the painted flourish of your praise:
Beauty is bought by iudgement of the eye,
Not vtred by base sale of chapmens tongues:
I am lesse proud to heare you tell my worth,
Then you much willing to be counted wise,
In spending your wit in the praise of mine,
But now to taske the tasker, good Boyet,

Prin. You are not ignorant all-telling fame
Doth noyse abroad Nauar hath made a vow,
Till painefull studie shall out-weare three yeares,
No woman may approach his silent Court:
Therefore to's seemeth it a needfull courie,
Before we enter his forbidden gates,
To know his pleasure, and in that behalfe
Bold of your worthinesse, we fingle you,
As our best mouing faire soliciter:
Tell him the daughter of the King of France,
On serious businesse crauing quicke dispatch,
Importunes personall conference with his grace.
Haste, signifie so much while we attend,
Like humble visag'd futers his high will.

Boy. Proud of imployment, willingly I goe. Exit.
Prin. All pride is willing pride, and yours is so:
Who are the Votaries my louing Lords, that are vov-fellowes with this vertuous Duke?

Lor. Longuill is one.

Prin. Know you the man?

1. Lady. I know him Madame at a marriage feast,
Betweene L. Perigort and the beaurious heire
Of Iaques Fauconbridge solemnized.
In Normandie saw I this Longuill,
A man of soueraigne parts he is esteem'd:
Well fitted in Arts, glorious in Armes:
Nothing becomes him ill that he would well.
The onely foyle of his faire vertues glosse,
If vertues glosse will staine with any foile,
Is a sharp wit match'd with too blunt a Will:
Whose edge hath power to cut whose will still wills,
It should none spare that come within his power.

Prin. Some merry mocking Lord belike, is't so?

Lad. 1. They say so most, that most his humors know.

Prin. Such short liu'd wits do wither as they grow.
Who are the rest?

2. Lad. The yong Dumaine, a well accomplisht youth,

Of all that Vertue loue, for Vertue loued.
Most power to doe most harme, least knowing ill:
For he hath wit to make an ill shape good,
And shape to win grace though she had no wit.
I saw him at the Duke Alanses once,
And much too little of that good I saw,
Is my report to his great worthinesse.

Rosa. Another of these Students at that time,
Was there with him, as I haue heard a truth.
Berowne they call him, but a merrier man,
Within the limit of becomming mirth,
Ineuer spent an houres talke withall.
His eye begets occasion for his wit,
For euery obiect that the one doth catch,
The other turnes to a mirth-mouing iest.
Which his faire tongue (conceits expositor)
Deliuers in such apt and gracious words,
That aged cares play treuant at his tales,
And yonger hearings are quite rauished.
So sweet and voluble is his discourse.

Prin. God blefse my Ladies, are they all in loue?
That euery one her owne hath garnished,
With such bedeking ornaments of praise.

Ma. Heere comes Boyet.

Enter Boyet.

Prin. Now, what admittance Lord?

Boyet. Nauar had notice of your faire approach;
And he and his competitors in oath,
Were all addrest to meete you gentle Lady
Before I came: Marie thus much I haue learnt,
He rather meanes to lodge you in the field,
Like one that comes heere to besiege his Court,
Then seeke a dispensation for his oath:
To let you enter his vnpeopled house.

Enter Nauar, Longuill, Dumaine, and Berowne.

Heere comes Nauar.

Nau. Faire Princeesse, welcom to the Court of Nauar.
Prin. Faire I giue you backe againe, and welcom haue not yet: the roose of this Court is too high to bee yours, and welcome to the wide fields, too base to be mine.

Nau. You shall be welcome Madam to my Court.

Prin. I wil be welcome then, Conduct me thither.

Nau. Heare me deare Lady, I haue sworne an oath.

Prin. Our Lady helpe my Lord, he'll be forsworne.

Nau. Not for the world faire Madam, by my will.

Prin. Why, will shall breake it will, and nothing els.

Nau. Your Ladiship is ignorant what it is.

Prin. Were my Lord so, his ignorance were wise,

Where now his knowledge must proue ignorance.

I heare your grace hath sworne our Housekeeping:

This deadly sinne to keepe that oath my Lord,

And sinne to breake it:

But pardon me, I am too sodaine bold,

To teach a Teacher ill befeemeth me.

Vouchsafe to read the purpose of my comming,

And sodainly resolute me in my suite.

Nau. Madam, I will, if sodainly I may.

Prin. You will the sooner that I were away,

For you'll proue perjur'd if you make me stay.

Berow. Did not I dance with you in Brabant once?

Rosa. Did not I dance with you in Brabant once?

Ber. 1

Ber. I know you did.

Rosa. How needlesse was it then to ask the question?

Ber. You must not be so quicke.

Rosa. 'Tis long of you y spur me with such questions.

Ber. Your wit's too hot, it speeds too fast, 'twill tire.

Rosa. Not till it leaue the Rider in the mire.

Ber. What time a day?

Rosa. The howre that fooles should aske.

Ber. Now faire befall your maske.

Rosa. Faire fall the face it couers.

Ber. Amen, so you be none.

Rosa. Nay then will I be gone.

Ber. Nay then will I be gone.

Kim. Madame, your father heere doth intimate,

The payment of a hundred thousand Crownes,

Being but th' one halfe, of an intire summe,

Disburst by my father in his warres.

But say that he, or we, as neither haue

Receiu'd that summe; yet there remains vnpaid

A hundred thousand more: in surety of the which,

One part of Aquitaine is bound to vs,

Although not valued to the moneys worth.

If then the King your father will restore

But that one halfe which is vnatisfied,

We will giue vp our right in Aquitaine,

And hold faire friendship with his Maiclie:

But that it seemes he little purposeth,

For here he doth demand to haue repaie,

An hundred thousand Crownes, and not demands

One payment of a hundred thousand Crownes,

To haue his title liue in Aquitaine.

Which we much rather had depart withall,

And haue the money by our father lent,

Then Aquitaine, so guelded as it is.

Deare Princeesse, were not his requests so farre

From reasons yeelding, your faire selfe should make

A yeelding gainst some reason in my brest,

And goe well satisfied to France againe.

Prin. You doe the King my Father too much wrong,

And wrong the reputation of your name,

In so vnflattering to confesse receyve

Of that which hath so faithfully bene paid.

Kim. I doe protest I neuer heard of it,

And if you proue it, Ile repay it backe,

Or yeeld vp Aquitaine.

Prin. We arrest your word:

Boyet, you can produce acquittances

For such a summe, from speciall Officers,

Of Charles his Father.

Kim. Satisfie me so.

Boyet. So please your Grace, the packet is not come

Where that and other specialties are bound,

To morrow you shall haue a sight of them.

Kim. It shall suffice me; at which interview,

All liberal reason would I yeeld vnto:

Meane time, receiue such welcome at my hand,

As Honour, without breach of Honour may

Make tender of, to thy true worthinesse.

You may not come faire Princeesse in my gates,

But heere without you shall be so receiu'd,

As you shall deeme your selfe lodg'd in my heart,

Though so deni'd farther harbour in my house:

Your owne good thoughts excuse me, and farewell,

To morrow we shall visit you againe.

Prin. Sweet health & faire desires comfort your grace.

Kim. Thy own will with I thee, in euery place. Exit.

Boy. Lady, I will commend you to my owne heart.

La. Ro. Pray you doe my commendations,

I would be glad to see it.

Boy. I would you heard it grone.

La. Ro. Is the soule sicke?

Boy. Sicke at the heart.

La. Ro. Alacke, let it bloud.

Boy. Would that doe it good?

La. Ro. My Phisicke saies I.

Boy. Will you prick't with your eye.

La. Ro. No point, with my knife.

Boy. Now God saue thy life.

La. Ro. And yours from long liuing.

Ber. I cannot stay thankf-giuing. Exit.

Enter Dumaine.

Dum. Sir, I pray you a word: What Lady is that fame?

Boy. The heire of Alanses, Rosalind her name.

Dum. A gallant Lady, Mounfier fare you well.

Long. I beseech you a word: what is she in the white?

Boy. A woman sometimes, if you saw her in the light.

Long. Perchance light in the light: I desire her name.

Boy. Shee hath but one for her selfe,

To desire that were a shame.

Long. Pray you sir, whose daughter?

Boy. Her Mothers, I haue heard.

Long. Gods blessing a your beard.

Boy. Good sir be not offended,

Shee is an heire of Fauconbridge.

Long. Nay, my choller is ended:

Shee is a most sweet Lady. Exit. Long.

Boy. Not vnlike sir, that may be.

Enter Berowne.

Ber. What's her name in the cap.

Boy. Katherine by good hap.

Ber. Is she wedded, or no.

Boy. To her will sir, or so.

Ber. You are welcome sir, adieu.

Boy. Fare well to me sir, and welcome to you. Exit.

La. Ma. That last is Berowne, the mery mad-cap Lord.

Not a word with him, but a iest.

Boy. And euery iest but a word.

Prin. It was well done of you to take him at his word.

Boy. I was as willing to grapple, as he was to boord.

La. Ma. Two hot Sheepes marie: you are (lips).

And wherefore not Ships?

Boy. No Sheepe (sweet Lamb) vnlesse we feed on your

La. You Sheep & I pasture: shall that finish the iest?

Boy. So you grant pasture for me.

La. Not so gentle beast.

My lips are no Common, though seuerall they be.

Boy. Belonging to whom?

La. To my fortunes and me.

Prin. Good wits will be iangling, but gentles agree.

This ciuill warre of wits were much better vsed

On Nauar and his bookemen, for heere tis abus'd.

Bo. If my obseruation (which very seldome lies

By the hearts still rhetoricke, disclosed with eyes)

Deceiue me not now, Nauar is infected,

Prin. With what?

Bo. With that which we Louers intitle affected.

Prin. Your reason.

Bo. Why all his behaviours doe make their retire,

To the court of his eye, peeping thorough desire.

His hart like an Agot with your print impressed.

Proud
